IN A HURRY FOR DIVORCE

Mrs. Bagaley Files a Supplemental Bill in Her Suit.

She Declares Her Husband Is a Constant Menace and Feels Harm From Him.

Olga P. Bagaley, wife of Walterman P. Bagaley, to-day filed a petition in equity asking leave to file a supplemental bill to the suit for divorce brought by her December 11, 1894.

In her original suit the wife asked for an absolute divorce, the custody of their three children, and that the husband be enjoined from in any way molesting her. The pending incidents that have attended this rather remarkable suit were set forth in the petition filed to-day. The wife is the daughter of an Italian count and the husband comes of an old Georgetown family. The wife accuses Mr. Bagaley of being addicted to the opium habit. She recited the occurrence of his drawing a revolver on her attorney's clerk about July 9 while under the influence of liquor, and during the same day, she said, he was restrained from going to Gaitherburg, Md., where the wife was, for fear he would kill her.

Mrs. Bagaley says she is still residing in Gaitherburg for fear of her husband. She charged that he has repeatedly threatened to take her life, and is desirous of filing a supplemental bill to meet the exigencies of the case, and hasten a divorce.

ACCIDENT TO THE ALERT.

Her Injuries From the Condor Not Believed to Be Serious.

The Navy Department has received a dispatch from Capt. Franklin Haasford, of the United States naval ship Alert, stating that the British steamer Condor collided with his vessel, breaking the bowsprit of the Alert.

The dispatch gives no detailed account of the damage done to the Alert, and it is believed at the Navy Department that the injury is not extensive.

Receipts of the Treasury.
The receipts from internal revenue to-day were $300,960; from customs, $7,589,500; and miscellaneous, $12,154. The national bank notes received to-day for redemption amounted to $226,276.

Murder Will Out.
Portsmouth, N. H., Sept. 26.—M. A. Carter, alias Ed. Harrigan, of Baltimore, was arrested here to-night upon his own confession of having killed a woman on August 17. He stated to the police that his crime was committed when he was drunk. The police have suspicion as to his sanity.

PAIR OF PISTOLS

Paul Told Conflicting Stories and Is in Custody.

JUDGE MILLER AT THE HELM

He Returns From His Vacation and Dispenses Justice in a Renovated Courtroom—Downstairs in Judge Kimball's Province—Willowtree Alley Well Represented.

Judge Miller resumed his duties in the upper court this morning much refreshed and benefited by his vacation.

The room itself has put on a new dress, all the furniture, walls and ceiling having been newly varnished and painted.

One of the first cases this morning was that of Victor Paul, who was found loafing around Maryland avenue with two other companions.

An officer suspected that they were runaways, and approached and began questioning them, whereupon they broke and ran. Officer Cole caught Victor, took him to the station house, and when searched found on his person two pistols, a valuable pair of opera glasses and a gold brooch.

The boy was brought before Judge Miller and made a confused confession. He claimed that he came from Richmond, that he bought one of the pistols and found the other one of the women.

As to the opera glasses and pin, he said he brought them from home, which seemed very probable. His honor suspended any action in the matter until his relatives could be communicated with in Philadelphia, which last address he finally gave.

The boy was very reluctant to give any information, and evidently wished to conceal his identity.

IN JUDGE KIMBALL'S COURT.
Judge Kimball's levee drew the usual crowd this morning. There were all sorts of offenders, and with a cool breeze playing about the court room justice was dispensed with grace and ease.

Officer Hugel then told the court how he heard somebody yell murder as he was passing Willowtree alley.

He rushed in and found three men and three women mixed up in a fight.

"What was this in this alley?" asked his honor of one of the women.

"A fight," she replied.

"Well, what did the old man do?"

"He cursed Sorry Williams."

"What did Sorry do?"

"He hit Bill Lucas."

"What did Bill do?"

"He didn't do nothing."

"Next witness, do you know about it?"

"Yes, sir. I was out there in the alley. Sorry Williams had a big stick in his hand, and Bill Lucas hit him with a stone. Then the old man jumped up and struck him with a brick."

"Well, wait a minute; who started the fight?"

Mary caught her breath for an instant and started off again.

THE ACCOUNT OF THE ROW.

"Well, dear sir, dey was so many things flyin' 'round de air, and so much cursin' and blackguardin' dat—dat—dat—so, dey was all in de 'kagament'."

The old man then told the judge that he was a Christian man and didn't use any bad language.

The old man and Bill Lucas both had their heads bandaged, however, and Sonny Williams told how Lucas had been looking for him for some time to hurt him.

"Williams and Lucas $10, the other man $5."

The next on the programme was a quartet of white men, who were charged with being suspicious characters.

On Sunday morning, about 4:30 o'clock, a lady who keeps a store on the corner of Third and E streets northeast, was attracted by a noise in the street. Calling her husband they went to the window and saw two men acting suspiciously, watching their store and hiding behind a bread box.

A milk wagon happened along and the men ran. The gas lamp was lighted and the lady and gentleman had a good view of the two men.

The next afternoon the two men again appeared in front of the store and one of them entered and asked for bread. She immediately sent for an officer and had them arrested.

GAVE THEM A CHANCE.
The men on the stand told a straight story and said they could prove that they were in Baltimore on Sunday night. The case was laid over until day after tomorrow to give them a chance to write to Baltimore and get proof.

Chris. Jackson and Alice Jackson, colored, were up on a charge of vagrancy. Chris. is a ragpicker, and the officer said that they were a nuisance in Naylor's alley. They have been in the defense cross-questioned the officer and said:

"What did you arrest this man for?"

"Because he's a vagrant."

"Don't you know he works?"

"No."

"Didn't you say he was a ragpicker?"

"Well, that's work, isn't it?"

"I suppose so."

Several residents of the neighborhood gave testimony to the effect that the two prisoners were very disorderly and habitual drunkards.

"I wasn't drunk for four months, and no officer can say so."

"Oh, yes, they do," said the court.

"I say something 'dat ain't so, den."

"What do you mean by drunk?"

"Why, jes' drunk."

"Well, I'll give you a chance to prove that you haven't been drunk for four months. Step back."

AT HOPE AND HELP MISSION.

Pleasant Social Given by Calvary Christian Endeavorers.

A social was given last evening at the Hope and Help Mission, No. 604 H street northwest, conducted by the young ladies of the relief committee of the Christian Endeavor Society of the Calvary Baptist Church, and their friends.

Misses Major, Kinsey, Gilman, Cowman, Cory, Bell and Sickney, were of the number. Miss Stickney sang and Mrs. S. D. La Feta talked about the origin and aims of the home, expressing great pleasure in the interest manifested by Christian young women in the mission.

Mrs. E. K. Knowles, Mrs. T. G. Jones, Mrs. E. C. Fawcett and Mrs. S. D. Luckett were among those present.

Each lady brought with her a donation of groceries or money. There are about thirty homeless persons being sheltered in the home. This very worthy institution depends almost entirely for its support upon the voluntary contributions of charitably disposed persons.

BRIGHT YEAR FOR KENDALL

Its Classes Opened Under Very Favorable Auspices.

High Caste Indian Who Contemplates Coming to the Institution to Study Its Methods.

The Kendall School and Gallaudet College for the deaf and dumb has resumed its classes.

They open very favorably. The school has about fifty students, and the college about eighty, of these fifty are young men and thirty young ladies, and they come from almost every State in the Union.

In the normal department there are four students. Three of them are young men who have graduated at different colleges, and who wish to become instructors in the deaf institution.

The fourth student in the normal course is a young lady, the daughter of two nuns, who graduated at the college about twenty-five years ago. She is not a mute, and understands the signs and symbols so perfectly that she will make an invaluable addition to the corps of teachers.

Dr. Gallaudet is now in correspondence with Mr. Banerji, a Hindoo gentleman of rank and great wealth, who is desirous of taking the normal course and special studies in the Kendall, in order to open similar institutions in India. He has spent a year in Europe at the best institutions of Berlin and Paris, and now wishes to perfect himself in the American system.

The new dormitory was completed and opened a few days ago, and is a very imposing structure. The cost of erection was $18,000, and the architect is one of Dr. Gallaudet's pupils, Mr. Oliver Hanson, of Minnesota, who graduated from the college about ten years ago.

There are no changes and but two additions in the faculty of last year. Mr. Percival Hall, a graduate of Harvard, occupies a chair in the college, and Miss May McGee, a graduate of Gallaudet College in June, who teaches both in the college and the Kendall School.

JUSTICE STRONG ETLOGIZED.

Philadelphia Sunday Teachers Pass Resolutions in Memoriam.

Philadelphia, Sept. 26.—The board of officers and managers of the American Sunday School Union, at its regular meeting, yesterday, in the society's rooms, 1122 Chestnut street, adopted the following paper eulogistic of the late William Strong:

"Since the last meeting of the board we have been called, in the providence of God, to mourn the death of the honored and beloved president of our society, the Hon. William Strong, LL. D. At the ripe age of 87, on the 19th of August, at Lake Minnewaska, New York, he was called away from earth to heaven. The tidings of this event has filled us with a profound sense of loss."

"Justice Strong was elected vice president of the American Sunday School Union in 1869, thirty-six years ago. On May 10, 1883, he was elected president of the society, and continued in that office until his lamented death. He always showed a deep interest in our work for the children, and presided frequently at the meetings of the board. The sixty-eighth anniversary of the society was held at Washington, D. C., monthly through his influence, and he presided at it, making an earnest address, highly commending the object and methods of our work. The high position of influence which he occupied in the judicial councils of the nation and in the councils of the church, as well as his strong attachment to his own denomination, have made us appreciate all the more, gratefully his earnest devotion to the benevolent work of our society."

"We call to mind with pleasure the beautiful simplicity and courtesy of his manners in his intercourse with us, the retirement of his bearing, his genial kindness, his warm interest in the society, and his genuine and earnestly expressed admiration of its administration."

"We bow with submission to the will of God in the removal of our president from us, and tender to the bereaved members of his household our sympathy in their sorrow at his loss."

MR. BOSTON HAS LEFT TOWN

Despite His Absence the G. A. R. Court-Martial Will Meet.

Morton Post's Commander Has Gone to Norfolk, and Seems to Think He Is in No Danger.

The court-martial of Post Commander George H. Boston, of Oliver P. Morton Post, No. 4, Grand Army of the Republic, will convene this evening at headquarters.

The charges against Mr. Boston are made by Marion T. Anderson, departmental commander, and Wm. P. Saville, assistant inspector general, and are to the effect that the post commander violated the laws governing the Grand Army when the departmental commander and assistant inspector general visited the post.

A Times reporter saw Major Anderson to-day and he said there was no doubt about the court convening. It certainly would meet to-night and begin proceedings.

Geo. H. Boston left Washington last night for Norfolk to be gone until to-morrow. He said before leaving that nothing would come of the court-martial, as the charges were of no consequences whatever.

In all probability Boston will have a representative at the court to-night, and ask a continuance.

Grand Army men are interested in the outcome of Boston's trial and the composition of the court, the detail for which is William Gibson, N. M. Brooks, T. R. Senior, A. J. Gunning, J. H. Day, H. H. Martin, Calvin Farnsworth and J. P. Lottinor, all men of long standing in the order.

Boston all along has manifested a spirit of indifference and has claimed that when the trial was called he would compel his accusers to withdraw the charges.

The witnesses are Marion T. Anderson, C. F. Benjamin and James E. McCabe. Mr. Benjamin being in New York and Boston in Norfolk gives cause to believe that a continuance will be had until they can be present.

COMING RUSSIAN PRIESTS.

Purpose of the Synod in Sending Them Is Much of a Mystery.

The reported purpose of the synod of the Russian Church to send five priests to the United States is not entirely clear to persons in this city familiar with Russian affairs.

The number of distinctive Russians in the United States proper is very small, and except priests are located here to minister to their spiritual wants. The majority of the Russians in America are located in Alaska, which is the headquarters of the Russian Church in this country.

There are, in addition, about 60,000 Slav Austrians in the United States, whose members of the Greek Church. These, however, have their own pastors, and, as there is little, if any, emigration from Russia, it is not clearly understood what purpose there is in sending additional priests here, unless it be to fill the places of others who desire to return to their native land.

Deadly Thrust.

A young French advocate, in the course of his address to the court, floundered about his hand in such a manner as to show off a magnificent diamond ring. He was young, good looking, and was pleading for a lady of quality, who demanded a separation from her husband. The husband, who happened to be present, interpreted him in the middle of a period, and, turning to the judges, exclaimed, theatrically: "My lords, you will appreciate the zeal which Mr. X— is displaying against me and the sincerity of his argument when you are informed that the diamond ring he wears is the very one that I placed on my wife's finger on the day of that union he is so anxious to dissolve."

The court was struck with astonishment and rose immediately. The cause was lost and the advocate never had another. To add to the poignancy of the catastrophe the husband's insinuation had no foundation whatever in fact.

DAUGHERTY IS NO BETTER

Physicians Have Little Hope That the Lad Will Recover.

Mr. Culp Denies That He Kicked the Boy, and Claims He Was Injured by Companions, if at All.

There is no noticeable improvement to-day in the condition of young Jerry Daugherty, who claims he was kicked by John A. Culp about ten days ago at the flying horses on the corner of Sixth street and Virginia avenue southwest.

Dr. Carier is in constant attendance and holds out but little hope for the lad's recovery.

Mr. Culp denied the boy's story. He states that on Wednesday, the 11th instant, a boy named Roach and another lad were very noisy at the entrance gate. He ran to ward them, and they ran also, upsetting a number of small children who were some distance away.

He thinks that if the Daugherty lad was hurt at all at that time, which he doubts, it must have been by one of these twosome.

He states further that when he rushed toward the gate he slipped and fell, making it impossible for him to have struck or kicked any one. He claims to have witnesses to this, and says that the Roach boy and his companion of that night will testify that young Daugherty was not near the gate.

ANOTHER BRITISH DEFEAT.

Walter Winans, of Baltimore, Wins a Revolver Championship.

London, Sept. 26.—The revolver championship of the South London Rifle Club, which was decided to-day, was won by Mr. Walter Winans, of Baltimore, by a score of 324 out of a possible 336.

This makes the eighth year that Mr. Winans has won the South London championship.

Mr. Winans is also leading in the competition for the revolver championship of the North London Rifle Club, which will be decided on October 16.
